

Abstract

Sputtering cathode and method has a basic cathode body with cooling arrangement, and a cooling contact body disposed between the cooling arrangement and a target such that it is heat conducting, and wherein the contact face between the cooling contact body and the target is provided with a friction-reducing layer.